BOOKSIGNINGS/EVENTS 2006/2007

October 28: Borders at East Cobb (the Avenue) 1-3

November 4: The Massie School, Savannah 12-2 Barnes and Noble, Oglethorpe Mall

November 11: Waldenbooks, Milledgeville, 2-4

November 25: Cyclorama 11-1(event)

November 30: Powers Ferry Elementary, Marietta, 2:45

December 1: Golden Bough Books, Macon (event) 7-9

December 2: Barnes and Noble, The Avenue West Cobb 4-5

December 17: WaldenBooks, Milledgeville, 1-3

January 26: WaldenBooks, CNN Center 1-3

March 3: Barnes and Noble, Town Center, Booksigning 2-4

March 15: Rome Historical Society: Mini Performance, 5:30 (event)

April 16: Georgia Center for the Book, DeKalb Public Library, evenng event

April 21: Barnes and Noble, Cobb Parkway, booksigning: 12-1:45

May 12: Southern Museum of Civil War/Kennesaw Historical Society, 2-3

May 13: Bulloch Hall Cottage, Book talk and signing 2-4

July 26: Cartersville History Center, Book Talk and signing 7 pm

"Thank you for extending the opportunity for people to learn more about history, specifically women’s role in history. I started reading your book last night. There is a whole world dedicated to women’s history that I have been interested in and never knew existed. Thank you for providing the portal for me to make this journey.

Your approach to helping children learn is very intriguing. Your combination of research and creativity is inspiring.

I try to use the same approach with my customers who are corporate clients. The more props and humor, the better it seems my customers retain what we discuss. I primarily provide classes to help people prepare for various professional exams. A recent comment is I am one of the “top 5 entertainers in the US”! I am sure when I met you I met my match.

The book is signed “May you be inspired by the Georgia belles”. I am inspired, by who you wrote about in your book as well as reading how you, as a current Georgia belle help people learn. "

Thank you,

Debra Hansford